NEWS

The upcoming meeting may be a little hard to find for you all. Community rd. just past Ellis Marine and Sun Belt Rentals is Shell Drive. Turn down Shell and its on the left side of road. Big parking area so plenty of room for those big cars like Ralph drives.

Mike Hastings is doing a show and tell on his Guitar building operation. Its my understanding that this has been done once before, but we have new members now and some that did not make the last demo.

From Eddie Wildsmith

I guess I am jumping in with both feet and this next meet will become the official pres. of the group. That being said, If ANYBODY has ANY ideas on demos for our upcoming meetings, I'm all ears! So please, if you have something in mind, or a project that you'd like to see, please speak up!

I'd like to concentrate too, on getting more people involved in our club. There's so many talented woodworkers and wood turners out there that don't even know we exist, so I'd like to get the word out, that we DO exist. The only downside to that, is we usually have limited space at some of our meeting locations. Hopefully, that won't be an issue to many times.

I look forward to this year as your new President!

Somebody sent me this here picture of our old president....(did I say old) well not pointing fingers for sure as we are all tying for that illustrious position. But a good picture for sure

The November meeting of Sea Oats Garden Club was held at Sea Palms Resort. During his presentation, David Loehle, woodworker and basket weaver, explained how he gathers and prepares the straw and grasses used in making his baskets. Items were available for sale for Christmas shopping.

I think the wood might be camphor but I am not sure. I found it in my late friend's workshop with a chuck on it and I offered to finish it. His wife was ecstatic. I think the "horseshoe" is just some spalting. It didn't show on the blank inside until I turned it some. It is a beautiful piece.

I am working wife his wife to set a day in January to invite the Guild to come by for a sale of his equipment. He has a lot of nice stuff and I will send pics. I left David an email about a month ago and replied affirmatively on this.

Barb H. mentioned to Steve that a upside down horseshoe means good luck or just maybe a good idea not to stand behind a horse.

Herb sent me these couple pics with the message saying he is catching up. With what I have no idea
