Meeting Notes

A great big THANK YOU to Mike Fowler for hosting the February 2017 GIWW meeting on Saturday. He gave us a lot of his time and knowledge. The feedback I received from the attendees was very positive. Mike gave us a tour of his home and many pieces of fine furniture he has made over the years as well as providing tips and tricks on finishing wood and other aspects of woodworking.

Please let Karen know if you have other demos you would like, or a group that may be compatible for sharing shows.

We still have some wood and books available - get some great deals at the next meeting!

President's Message

The upcoming meeting will be held at Paul Speich's shop located at 185 Hardwood Forest Drive, Brunswick, at 2:00 on March 11. Paul will be doing a demo on Joinery.

In addition to a short business meeting, we will have another wood sale. This is a SUPER SALE!!! Whatever the price is marked on the remaining Cline wood, we will sell it for 50%. It is getting to be a bit burdensome carrying it back and forth for storage, so it is time to move it out. There are still a lot of very nice pieces available.

Another reminder . . . DUES ARE DUE!!! I will be changing the password to access member information on our web site on March 12. Only paid members will have that password. In addition, I'll be adding a spouse/companion list per request.

Please be thinking about projects you would like to see the club take on in the future. I'll be presenting one potential project at the March meeting. I'd like to hear from other people as well.

We are still waiting for input for the Beads of Courage boxes. IF you are participating, PLEASE bring your boxes to the meeting.

We always welcome Show and Tell, so don't hesitate to bring a finished or “in progress” project and present it to the other members.

Thanks all . . . see you at Paul's
